"Loving, Learning & Leading Through this New Chapter in God's Story."

Dear PCCE Community

It is hard to believe that it was less than one week ago that the decision was made to cancel classes. After a week of preparation, most of you will be moving formally into the new learning environment next week. Congratulations on having made it this far! A couple of general things to remember:

Remember that how you begin on Monday does not need to be how things will be in a week or month. We are all on a steep learning curve; be okay with revising your plans as you and your families learn through this journey.

Think about how many emails your families will be receiving from you. I heard today about a family who has been doing school this way for a couple of weeks and last week they received over 150 emails from the school (teachers, office, admin etc). This is obviously overwhelming so think about how to streamline & coordinate communication to your families.

LOVING

As we introduced in the last Prairie Page, we are encouraging this to be a time of "unprecedented loving." To help us move into this way of thinking, here is a prayer guide to sharpen our outward focus.
